

John G. Borden Middle School Spotlight

December 2007 Happenings

On December 18th, 2007, Dominick Magistro, John Jenerose, Robert Clydesdale, Pat Woodruff and Bob Fisch of the Carlie's Crusade Foundation presented an assembly to the JGBMS student body on Protecting Children Against Abduction Through Education & Training Programs For The Entire Family. Spawned by the abduction and murder of a 14 year old girl, Carlie Brucia, Carlie's Crusade strives to teach children and adults about the very real threat of child abduction and the role the internet and social networking sites such as MySpace can play in facilitating abduction and molestation.

<http://www.carliescrusade.org/>

As part of their program to make kids aware of how to protect themselves, a two day training session was held on Dec. 19 & 20th during the students Physical Education classes. Students were taught different techniques on how to avoid becoming a victim and how to protect themselves against a possible attacker.

Instructor Dominick Magistro explain hand moves to the students

Instructors Dominick Magistro and John Jenerose demonstrate on a dummy

What to do if you are grabbed from behind.

Students have an opportunity to fend off an attacker

THANK YOU!

We would like to thank Pat Woodruff, Dominick Magistro and John Jenerose from the Carlies Crusade Foundation for taking the time to help make the difference in the lives of our students safety here at John G. Borden Middle School they pictured with Chris Canosa, Physical Education teacher.

These pages © Wallkill Central School District, 2000-07